News and highlights

This week in assembly the children heard the story of Maya and her dad who tend their garden together to support their grieving process. Maya finds courage and purpose as she transforms their overgrown and neglected garden into a place of beauty, love and ultimately hope. We talked to the children about resilience to be strong and having the tools to help when times are hard. We reminded them of this quote on our walls...

There has been much in the media recently about the impact of the digital world on children.

Please have a look at this information and advice for parents re social media & algorithms.
